About Abergavenny Food Festival

Nestled in the idyllic mountains of South Wales, Abergavenny Food Festival is the largest running food festival in the UK. Every year we welcome over 37,000 visitors to our small market town where the country's best chefs, food businesses, journalists, and producers come together to deliver a delicious opportunity for people from all walks of life to explore and learn about food.

The festival provides an unparalleled programme of activities meaning you and your guests can experience product tastings, masterclasses, hands on cookery lessons topical debates or celebrity chef demonstrations and a huge Saturday night party. All on top of the festival wristband, which allows you to while away the hours experiencing some of the greatest food and drink the UK has to offer.

Over the years, the festival has attracted the UK's food greats, such as: Tom Kerridge, Hugh Fearnley-Whittingstall, Jamie Oliver, Darina Allen, Monica Galetti, Jane Baxter, Jose Pizarro and Valentine Warner, to name but a few. We have grown to become one the highest profile food events in Britain and this year, you and your guests can be a part of it.
